

POUNDING NAILS

Without faith
It's impossible to please God
It really is that easy
It's really not that hard

If Noah had a tombstone
What would it say?
I'm quite sure it would read
Trust and Obey

He that dwells in the secret place
Of the Most High God
Shall abide under his shadow
According to the Word

Are you building an Ark
For all the world to see?
Pounding nails each and every day
No matter how long the road seems

Is the Joy of the Lord
Rooted deep inside of you?
Finding you NOT weary in well doing
Facing life with an "I CAN DO" attitude

What is your internal motivation?
How do you wake up each day?
Do you sigh and feel dread?
Or do you rejoice and bow your head?

Strive to discover a purpose statement
Live in a state of accountability
Each one, Teach one
How to be the best "you"
That only "You" can be

Always have a positive attitude
Despite pressures
Trying to weigh you down
Always be humble and kind
Despite circumstances
Trying to change your mind

Think before you speak
Give thanks before you pray
Smile before you doubt
Listen before you complain

Silence really is golden
It always speaks loud and clear
To anyone willing and able to listen
For the answers they need to hear

Are you helping someone's soul heal?
Are you the lifeboat that saves the day?
Are you the shepherd that leads the flock?
Or the lamp that lights the way?

Is your joy your sorrow unmasked?
Are you walking in complete peace?
Knowing that every step you take
Is moving you a little closer
To your manifest destiny

Have you discovered life's balance
In the busyness of each day?
Are life's moments becoming blurred
With memories of yesterday?

You are an author at work
Writing the story of your life
Be creative
Stay focused
A Best Seller takes time

Go for it and be encouraged
Naysayers will come and go
Keep pounding nails
Keep building your Ark
Remember Noah and the rainbow

Shuntrela Rogers-Gillion ©
November 9, 2017